

The SRI&ETTC and LEGAL ONE at NJPSA-FEA are proud to present

ADDRESSING SUBSTANCE ABUSE: BEST PRACTICES AND EMERGING TRENDS
December 11, 2017

Participants will learn about the opioid epidemic and its impact on public schools as well as the work of the Governor's Task Force on Drug Abuse Control. Participants will receive information on best practices related to drug and alcohol abuse prevention, response, awareness, collaboration with law enforcement, discipline and counseling. Participants will hear from expert presenters from the New Jersey Prevention Network and the Association of Student Assistant Professionals of New Jersey. Participants will receive information on the latest research and best practices being used in New Jersey school districts.

This workshop will be presented by David Nash, Esq., LEGAL ONE Director, FEA and Ms. Lori Todd, Student Assistance Coordinator and President - Association of Student Assistance Professionals of NJ

Mr. Nash currently serves as Director of Legal Education for the Foundation for Educational Administration and as the Director for the LEGAL ONE program, an innovative program that provides school law professional development for school leaders and other educators.

Ms. Todd has experience in the field of substance abuse counseling and prevention both in treatment and in the school setting. She currently serves as a Student Assistance Coordinator at Red Bank Regional High School and president of the Association of Student Assistance Professionals of NJ, overseeing the statewide professional organization.
