ANTI-BULLYING AND SCHOOL CLIMATE CONFERENCE

BEST PRACTICES FOR SUPPORTING OUR MARGINALIZED STUDENTS

MAY 22 & 23, 2019

The SRI&ETTC and The Ceceilyn Miller Institute are pleased to announce the 9th Annual Anti-Bullying and School Climate Conference on the Stockton University campus. The Anti-Bullying and School Climate Conference serves as a venue to gather the most knowledgeable scholars and practitioners on the topics of bullying and school climate. In addition to raising awareness and providing information about bullying and school climate, the Conference focuses on evidence-based strategies and solutions.

The theme this year is Best Practices for Supporting Our Marginalized Students, including immigrant students, sexual minority students, special education students and other targeted populations, so that all students can feel safe and welcome at school.

Conference attendees can expect to be exposed to the best research-based approaches to combating bullying in school and promoting positive school environments. Based on years of feedback from our participants, presenters make their workshops as interactive and experiential as possible.

Audience: All school personnel including Anti-Bullying Coordinators, Anti-Bullying Specialists, School Psychologists, Social Workers, SAC's, and personnel from other organizations that work with youth.

Location: Stockton University Campus Center, Galloway, New Jersey

Dates & Time: May 22, 2019: 7:30 am-3:45pm, May 23, 2019: 8:30 am-1:30 pm. This is a two-day conference, but individuals can register for single days or both days.

Fees: 6 ETTC Hours for Single Days, 12 ETTC Hours for the Full Conference. Registration includes breakfast, lunch, and conference materials.
