

The Languages & Culture Studies Program at Stockton University Cordially Invites You to Attend the 3rd Annual World Languages Professional Development Workshop
For High School Dual-Credit Educators
Tuesday, April 10, 2018 – 9:00 am-2:00 pm

The Languages and Culture Studies Program cordially invites all current and aspiring World Language High School Dual-Credit (HSDC) educators to engage in the 3rd Annual World Languages Professional Development Workshop to be held on Tuesday, April 10th from 9:00am to 2:00pm. All world language faculty liaisons from the School of Arts and Humanities will facilitate a vibrant discussion on current best practices and effective language acquisition methodologies.

The Southern Regional Institute and Educational Technology Training Center (SRI&ETTC), the School of Arts and Humanities, and the School of General Studies are sponsoring this professional collaboration with the intent of genuinely promoting the urgent need for language study in the region. The main purpose of this gathering is to align curriculum objectives, share pedagogical and cultural activities of immediate impact and to review our past, present and future collaborative efforts. The workshop is also open to World Language Supervisors and/or Curriculum Specialists.

We welcome a participatory approach, one that leads to enhancing language, literature and culture studies. Of primary importance is the reinforcement of Stockton University's Learning, Engagement, Global Perspectives and Sustainability (LEGS) Initiative that aligns interaction and nurtures partnerships with community stakeholders.

This workshop will be held at the
SRI&ETTC, 10 W. Jimmie Leeds Road, Galloway, NJ 08205 where there is ample parking and full access to technology.

A light breakfast and lunch will be provided!

A detailed agenda with ancillary materials will be forthcoming.

There is no cost to attend this program but pre-registration is required.
